SERVING SUGGESTION

Welcome to Love Food Autumn

With our recent acquisition of Windsor Foodservice, Hopwells has expanded into one of the UK’s largest independent foodservice wholesalers, operating from 6 strategically placed BRGCS accredited distribution centres.

Now holding over 4,000 stock products, including from top-end brands through to artisan producers, forging competitive alliances and seamless logistics, we continually search for new-to-market products as a conduit to supplying Out Of Home (OOH) eateries.

Hopwells also carries an impressive pantry of ambient goods, including chilled products alongside premium, fresh meat & poultry. In addition, the newly merged company can now offer an expansion to its frozen collection alongside a well-established artisan patisserie, presenting exquisite desserts and cakes, which is now part of the Hopwells Group.

Remember that your inspiration and value doesn’t stop because frozen food has been used within your menu, by contrast, the ability to offer beautifully flavoured, expertly crafted and from frozen ingredients can work quite succinctly alongside running a sustainable and profitable business.

Look inside this edition of Love Food to see where you can save and maintain your supply of delicious menu products and core ingredients.

Currylicious

NATIONAL CURRY WEEK 2ND - 8TH OCTOBER 2023

Celebrate the Nation's Favourite Dish!

Curry existed in India more than 4,000 years before the Europeans arrived. Back then, the basic ingredients used to make the 'stew' were garlic, ginger, and turmeric.

It is thought that the word 'curry' originated from the Tamil word 'Karil,' which means 'spiced sauce.'

While much is changing in the curry world, some trends continue:

Pilau rice (45%) is the UK's favourite curry accompaniment, followed by boiled rice (20%)*

Naan breads are the UK's favourite curry sundry (64%), followed by the Chapatti (10%). And 24% of people always order poppadom's and chutney with their curry too!*

*Foodhub Data 2020

The Official National Curry Week Recipe Book

3 prizes to give away

'FROM BOMBAY TO BRITAIN'; FEATURING SIGNATURE DISHES FROM SOME OF THE TOP INDIAN RESTAURANTS IN THE UK.

Impress your customers with a classic Chicken Tikka Masala, or turn up the heat with a King Prawn Piro Piro, or why not be adventurous with Aubergine Bhajis? This book will get everyone's taste buds tingling!

Send your Currylicious Picture into Lovefood@hopwells.com and if you show the Hopwells Logo too – you could win one of these great books containing over 50 recipes that your customers will love!

Do You Dispose Of Waste Cooking Oil Responsibly?

Our Oil Collection Partner, Arrow Edible Oil Management are registered as Used Cooking Oil Collectors.

All their depots are regularly audited and meet the International Sustainability Carbon Certificate (ISCC) requirements. Arrow provides a safe, secure, regular and reliable service.

Benefits of re-cycling your used cooking oil include:

- Keeping your premises plumbing systems in top condition
- Ensuring your business is legally compliant in Waste Management
- Receiving a REBATE onto your Hopwells account to use against future purchases. (20p per litre)

By working together, we can all be proud of protecting the environment now and for the future!

Arrow can provide free of charge oil containers with lids for safe storage of the cooking oil and a specialized wheelie bin called a Fatboxx is also available. The original containers that the oil was supplied in, can also be used for returning the waste cooking oil, these are normally 20 litre drums either in plastic or tin. Rebates paid to customers are subject to change due to market fluctuations.

30 days notice will be given for any changes to the rate rebated.
